

Business Consulting

Whether you are looking at reducing transaction costs by moving to online ordering or sourcing, or at streamlining customer interaction processes across multiple channels, our business transformation services can help you convert your vision to reality.

With an extensive repository of best practices and our consultants' extensive experience in dealing with clients in multiple industries across many countries, Moxx is ideally placed to translate business problems into a IT roadmap. Since we involve our IT team from the transformation stage, you are assured of a consistent transformational roadmap from start to finish. Outsourcing Services At Moxx, we help customers realize value through outsourcing. By helping our clients through the decision making process, we enable them to balance the needs of multiple stakeholders, and optimize the benefits from outsourcing.

We realize that in addition to financial and operational issues, outsourcing involves cultural concerns as well. Our consulting team provides valuable guidance for change management, drawing from best practices across the world and their own experience.

Our outsourcing solutions empower you with the technology and tools you need to manage change, and connect to globally distributed teams on a day-to-day basis. Please contact us to learn more about how our consulting engagements can enable you to become more competitive in a global market place.